

09/647279

FESI00001/US

(10/10)

Abstract

A plastic syringe barrel having a luer lock portion is characterized in that the inside of the luer lock portion is formed into a roughened surface by means of blast treatment, thereby enhancing the connection strength of the luer lock portion.